

Arcs of Internet Regulation: Assessing New Directions

23 – 24 November 2015

Peking–Oxford–Stanford Internet Law and Policy Conference

University of Oxford

This workshop builds on the previous annual events and focuses on significant issues on Internet law and policy that will require attention over the next several years. The workshop brings together a collection of scholars and students, government officials, corporate executives, and civil society with the goal to inform research and strengthen understanding of alternative viewpoints with a focus on the US, Europe and China, as well as global challenges. The Conference is hosted by the Centre for Socio-Legal Studies, University of Oxford, with generous support from Tencent.

Monday and Tuesday, 23-24 November 2015
